

Editorial

Presentación Editorial

The Journal of Administrative Sciences, is an academics' effort, who have glimpsed the opportunity to share their research with academic peers, students, alumni and staff with interest in administrative fields, such as the choice of administrative courses, the entrepreneurial profile, intellectual capital, social responsibility and the work environment within Private Universities, among other aspects whose purpose is to bring closer and strengthen experiences, enthusiasm to research, write and be an active part in this new scenario that is presented for the field of the Administrative Sciences.
